1. Introduction and Aims of the Policy

At King Edward VI Lordswood School for Girls a high standard of behaviour is an essential strand of an effective and high achieving school and fulfilling our vision of 'Together we thrive and add value to the world'. This needs to be supported by high quality teaching, high expectations, positive relationships and a set of values which is clearly understood and shared by all stakeholders.

Our school values are:

- We are ready to learn
- We treat everyone with respect
- We are resilient

As a result our school expectations are:

- We arrive to school on time ready to learn, dressed in school uniform (or sixth form dress code) and fully equipped
- We treat ourselves, each other and the school environment with respect
- We try our best and act on feedback to improve

We will adopt an approach whereby we support all students in managing their own behaviour and offer additional support internally or via external referrals when needed. Where a student's behaviour is related to an underlying need, we follow specific strategies outlined in their plans.

Teachers have statutory authority to discipline students for misbehaviour and the power to discipline also applies to all paid staff with responsibility for students. Teachers' powers to discipline include the power to discipline students even when they are not at school or in the charge of a member of staff.

Heads and governing bodies must ensure they have a strong behaviour policy to support staff in managing behaviour, including the use of rewards and sanctions.

Governing bodies have a duty under section 175 of the Education Act 2002 requiring them to make arrangements to ensure that their functions are carried out with a view to safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children.

The school recognises that the following are key aspects of effective behaviour management:

- A consistent approach to behaviour management;
- Strong school leadership;
- Classroom management with clear classroom expectations and processes for rewarding students and managing behaviour (see Appendix 1- Our Classroom Expectations and Appendix 2 Reflective Behaviour Chart);
- Rewards and sanctions;
- Behaviour strategies and the teaching of good behaviour;
- Staff development and support;
- Student support systems;
- Liaison with parents/carers and other agencies;
- The management of student transition;

King Edward VI Lordswood School for Girls is committed to the emotional mental health and well-being of its students and aims to provide an ethos, environment and curriculum that supports the social, emotional and mental health of the whole school community.

2. Principles

King Edward VI Lordswood School for Girls is committed to ensuring that this policy is implemented consistently and fairly. However:-

- being 'fair' is not about everyone getting the same (equality) but about everyone getting what they need (equity) the change in terminology in the 2014 Code of Practice of Special Educational Needs (SEN)- which replaces the Behaviour and Social Difficulties (BESD) with Social, Emotional, and Mental Health (SEMH) difficulties – helps to promote a shift towards viewing behaviour as a communication of an emotional need (whether conscious or unconscious), and responding accordingly
- Although behaviourist approaches can work for the majority of students, they are not successful with all. This is especially true for those who have experienced Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACEs) – traumatic life experiences that occur before the age of 18. For students who have experienced trauma and loss, including vulnerable groups such as Looked After Children (LAC2, CiC), children at the edge of the care system, and previously Looked After Children (PLAC) (PiC), behaviourist approaches often serve to re-traumatise them and do not teach them how to express their emotions in a more appropriate manner.
- All adults in school are encouraged to respond in a way that focuses on the feelings and emotions that might drive certain behaviour, rather than the behaviour itself. Students with behavioural difficulties need to be regarded as vulnerable rather than troublesome, and all staff have a duty to explore this vulnerability and provide appropriate support.
- This requires a school ethos that promotes strong relationships between staff, students and their parents/carers/carers. It also relies on creating a positive school culture and climate that fosters connection, inclusion, respect and value for all members of the school community.
- Maintaining clear boundaries and expectations around behaviour is key in order to help students feel safe, their educational environment needs to be high in both nurture and structure. Students need predictable routines, expectations and responses to behaviour. These must be in place and modelled appropriately, within the context of a safe and caring school environment. Natural Rewards and consequences that can follow certain behaviours should be made explicit, without the need to enforce 'sanctions' that can shame and ostracise students from their peers, school community and family, leading to potentially more negative behaviour
- Not all behaviours are a matter of 'choice' and not all factors linked to the behaviour of students are within their control. Therefore the language of choice (e.g. 'good choice/bad choice') is not always helpful.
- Behaviour must always be viewed systemically and within the context of important relationships (i.e. a relational communication pattern rather than an internal problem).
- Encouraging parent/carer engagement and involvement is absolutely crucial when addressing and planning support for students SEMH needs.
- Early intervention is imperative for addressing both active and passive behaviours, to ensure that low level features/difficulties can be addressed early. (See Appendix 3-Pastoral Toolkit)
- Students who are identified as particularly vulnerable will need specific approaches tailored to their individual needs and experiences, strengths and difficulties. These will need to be planned in conjunction with parents/carers/carers and relevant agencies, and shared sensitively, as deemed appropriate.

3. Roles & responsibilities

- All staff have the power to discipline students whose behaviour is unacceptable, who break the school rules or who fail to follow a reasonable instruction (Section 91 of the Education and Inspections Act 2006) and applies to all paid staff within the school.
- Staff can discipline students at any time the student is in school or elsewhere under their charge, including on school visits.
- Staff can also discipline students for misbehavior outside school.
- Staff have a specific legal power to impose detentions outside school hours.
- Staff can confiscate students' property.
- Staff support, consistency and discretion are central to the operation of this policy. It is individual staff that decide when to apply a reward or sanction and have regard for the individual student and circumstances involved. Each member of staff has the right to discipline as set out in Education Legislation: "13. Teachers can discipline students whose conduct falls below the standard, which could reasonably be expected of them. This means that if a student misbehaves, breaks a school rule or fails to follow a reasonable instruction the teacher can impose a punishment on that student." (DfE Behaviour and discipline in schools)

Safeguarding

We remain committed to safeguarding and have detailed safeguarding policies in place to support our work in this area. Occasionally, others may make allegations against students in the school, which are of a safeguarding nature. If the allegation indicates a potential criminal offence has taken place, the police will be contacted at the earliest opportunity and parent/carer informed (of both the student being complained about and the alleged victim).

Allegations against Staff and students

King Edward VI Lordswood School for Girls takes its safeguarding responsibilities very seriously; allegations will be investigated carefully and thoroughly. Any allegation against staff will be reported to the Headteacher. Investigations will be carried out immediately in order for a quick resolution. Safeguarding allegations involving students will be dealt with in line with our Safeguarding policy and procedures.

Malicious Allegations against Staff and students

students who are found making malicious allegations will be in serious breach of the school's behaviour policy. The Headteacher may well, in this instance, consider suspension or Permanent Exclusion and/or informing the Police.

4. Rewards and recognition

Recognising and rewarding our students is integral to our school life. We encourage students to develop our core values of being ready, respectful and resilient, follow the school rules and succeed in school by:

Verbal Praise	Used for any recognition of fulfilling our school values in the classroom or around the school
Positive phone calls home	Used by staff when students have demonstrated that they have fulfilled the school values to a high standard for example trying hard in lessons when they have recently struggled, being kind to another person, consistently ready to learn
Points on Classcharts (which can be spent at the online shop)	Used when students have fulfilled a school value in the classroom or around the school for example achieving an improved grade in an assessment, picking up litter, on task behaviour, doing their best to answer a question in class, being kind to someone else
Certificates or postcards	Certificates will be issued when students have accrued a certain amount of points to signify key milestones. They will also be issued when attendance has been higher than 97% each term or improved over time. Postcards might be issued when staff witness a particularly wonderful example of our school values being fulfilled such as representing school well on a trip or creating an outstanding piece of work
Rewards events/ trips	Students will be invited to attend based on how well they have fulfilled our school values over time: being ready to learn, respectful and resilient. Criteria will be shared for each trip/ event

It is important that we encourage our students to also 'do the right thing' for their own internal reward of pride and that they can value their own positive actions.

5. Our response to negative behaviour is outlined below. In classrooms staff are expected to follow the Reflective Behaviour Chart (Appendix 2)

5i. Punctuality to school and to lessons

Being on time to school and all lessons is very important to us in preparing students for life after school. It also ensures a calm and safe environment where students can learn productively.

Late to school is anytime after 08.30am.

Late to lessons is after the majority of students have arrived to the room. Latecomers will be asked to sit without discussion as to the reason for the late until an appropriate time during the lesson to discuss.

Students will carry a standards card. If students have lost their standards card a 30 minute detention for the following day will be issued.

If students are late to registration/ school after 08.30am then their standards card will be signed and they will receive a 15 minute detention at lunch.

If they are late to lessons after the majority of the class has arrived their card will be signed. Three signatures and their card is taken from them. They are issued with a pending detention card and must attend their detention (30 mins pastoral) to obtain a new standards card. Failure to attend this detention will result in a SLT detention and possible further sanctions.

Persistent attendance at standards detentions will result in contact home, meeting with parents/carers/carers and intervention from the pastoral team.

5ii Uniform breaches

We know that you want your child to attend a well ordered school where behaviour is good, bullying is rare and students learn. This starts with respecting the boundaries of a smart uniform.

Students do wear their uniform with pride, and we make no apology for picking up on small infractions of the policy as this reduces the pressure on others to 'follow the crowd'. Students will carry a standards card. If students have lost their standards card a 60 minute detention for the following day will be issued.

If students have breached the uniform policy then their standards card will be signed. Three signatures and their card is taken from them. They are issued with a pending detention card and must attend their detention (60 mins pastoral) to obtain a new standards card. Failure to attend this detention will result in a SLT detention and possible further sanctions.

In exceptional circumstances a slip will be issued to excuse a piece of missing or incorrect uniform but this will only be done with a note from parents/carers/carers to explain.

Persistent attendance at standards detentions will result in contact home, meeting with parents/carers/carers and intervention from the pastoral team.

Home contact will be made by the review tutor/ pastoral team to support uniform standards.

Attend their detention (30 mins pastoral) to obtain a new standards card. Failure to attend this detention will result in a SLT detention and possible further sanctions.

Persistent attendance at standards detentions will result in contact home, meeting with parents/carers and intervention from the pastoral team.

Home contact will be made by the review tutor/ pastoral team to support with uniform standards

5iii Detentions

Please be aware that setting detentions are a school's discipline right, schools no longer have to give notice or request permission from parent/carer/carers in order to detain a student. Our intention is to inform parent/carer/carers of any detention after school hours lasting longer than 10 minutes. We will inform parents/carers using ClassCharts and/or a phone call home. If staff issue a detention they should call parents/carers as best practice to discuss the circumstances that led to it.

Staff will continue to make use of the allowed 10 minutes at the end of the school day. During this time staff are permitted to ask students to stay behind. Examples are for discussion about behaviour, progress or work as well as for poor punctuality.

Type of detention	Possible reason why
Subject detention- after school	Behaviour in lessons resulting in call out attending Lack of homework on multiple occasions
Standards detention	Three signatures on uniform card- 30 minutes after school
Pastoral detentions- after school or at lunch (it is down to the discretion of staff assigning the detention as to when it takes place)	Incident at social time Anti social behaviour in school Uniform/ persistent punctuality issues Reset Room Detentions
Late detention- 15 mins at lunch	Late to school on that day
Senior Leadership Detentions- after school	Persistent detentions across school A serious incident Failure to attend detentions elsewhere

5 iv. Report System / Check in

Where there is continued poor behaviour in school, early intervention is considered vital to support the student in improving their behaviour. One of these strategies is our report system to monitor and support students:

Review Tutor Report- Students that reach a threshold of 5 negative behaviour points in a school term will be placed on review tutor report for 2 weeks to monitor and support with improvements. Review tutors will call home to inform parents/carers/ carers of the process. If this is not successful and improvement is not made then students will move onto the next report.
Achievement Coordinator Report- Students that have not made an improvement on Review Tutor report will be on report to their Achievement Coordinator. Students who have been involved in a serious incident may also move straight to this report at the pastoral team's discretion. They will be on this report for 4 weeks. If no improvement is made then they will move to the SLT report and a behaviour support plan will be written alongside the Pastoral Toolkit.
Behaviour Manager Report- Students who have been suspended or received time in the Reset Room will be placed on report to the Behaviour Manager for 4 weeks. If no improvement is made then they will move to the SLT report and a behaviour support plan will be written alongside the Pastoral Toolkit.
SLT Report- Each member of SLT are linked to a year group. Students will be on report to them for 4 weeks if students have not made improvements on their previous reports. Regular home contact will be made and the Pastoral Toolkit will be used to offer support via external agencies if needed.
Subject Report- In the event that a student's poor behaviour is an issue in one subject, they will report to the Lead Professional of that subject for 4 weeks. This will include regular contact home.

5v. Internal Exclusion / Reset Room

The school operates a policy of internal exclusion for serious incidents. The Headteacher makes the final decision on whether a student should be placed in the Reset Room, although the investigation may be delegated to another member of staff. For the period of internal exclusion, the student attends school outside of the regular school hours to avoid contact with her peers and is supervised by the school's Intervention and Behaviour Support Manager.

5vi. Suspension

In the event of a serious incident the Headteacher may take the decision to issue a suspension or permanent exclusion to a student having regard to the Department for Education guidelines found in <https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/school-exclusion>

5vii. Exclusions and students with SEND

King Edward VI Lordswood School for Girls recognises that there are certain groups of students with additional needs who are particularly vulnerable to suspension/ permanent exclusion. This includes students with Statements of Special Educational Needs (SEN) or an Education, Health & Care Plan (EHCP) and 'looked after' children. Under the Equality Act 2010 schools must not discriminate against, harass or victimise students because of their:

- sex;
- race;
- disability;
- religion or belief;
- sexual orientation;
- pregnancy and maternity

For students with SEND, this includes a duty to make 'reasonable adjustments' to policies and practices. We will make reasonable adjustments to accommodate students with SEND in regards to exclusions. However, there may be circumstances in which a legitimate reason (such as health and safety) necessitates the use of exclusion.

6. Searching, Screening and Confiscation

Schools' common law allows staff to search students and their lockers with their consent for any item. Schools are not required to have formal written consent from the student for this sort of search – it is enough for the member of staff to ask the student to turn out their pockets or bag and for the student to agree.

The reason for doing so must be made clear for example if a member of staff suspects a student has a banned item in their possession. Please see list of possible items:

Power to search without consent for "prohibited items" including:-

- knives and weapons
- alcohol
- illegal drugs and drugs paraphernalia
- stolen items
- tobacco and cigarette papers/e-cigarettes
- fireworks
- pornographic images
- any article that has been or is likely to be used to commit an offence, cause personal injury or damage to property
- any item banned by the school rules which has been identified in the rules as an item which may be searched for.

If the student refuses, the member of staff can apply an appropriate punishment as set out in this policy. Again, the reason for doing so must be made clear.

It is advisable that, where possible, the member of staff carrying out the search is the same sex as the student being searched.

It is advisable that there be a witness (also a staff member) unless they reasonably believe that there is a risk that serious harm will be caused to a person if they do not conduct the search immediately and where it is not reasonably practicable to summon another member of staff.

If a student refuses to be searched, parents/carers will be contacted and asked to be present during the search. The student will be supervised until a parent/carer arrives on the school site.

School staff can view CCTV footage in order to decide whether to conduct a search for an item.

During a search, if a member of staff finds an electronic device they may examine any data or files on the device if they think there is a good reason to do so. Members of staff cannot, however, search for/view material that is deemed to be sexually explicit/inappropriate.

If there is concern about material on a phone during a search, the local police will be notified and the electronic device will be searched by them.

Following an examination, if the person has decided to return the device to the owner, or to retain or dispose of it, they may erase any data or files, if they think there is a good reason to do so.

The member of staff must have regard to the following guidance issued by the Secretary of State: in determining a 'good reason' to examine or erase the data or files the staff member must reasonably suspect that the data or file on the device in question has been, or could be, used to cause harm, to disrupt teaching or break the school rules.

If inappropriate material is found on the device it is up to the member of staff to decide whether they should delete that material, retain it as evidence (of a criminal offence or a breach of school discipline) or whether the material is of such seriousness that it requires the involvement of the police.

Parents/carers/carers do not need to be informed before a search takes place but would normally be contacted afterwards, regardless of the outcome of the search.

The Governing Body and the Headteacher expect staff conducting searches to act with discretion and within the bounds of the law. The Headteacher/member(s) of the Leadership Team would be kept informed.

7. Power to use reasonable force

The legal provisions on school discipline also provide members of staff with the power to use reasonable force to prevent students committing an offence, injuring themselves or others or damaging property, and to maintain good order and discipline in the classroom. The Headteacher and authorised school staff may also use such force as is reasonable given the circumstances when conducting a search without consent for knives or weapons, alcohol, illegal drugs, stolen items, tobacco and cigarette papers, fireworks, pornographic images or articles that have been or could be used to commit an offence or cause harm. Force cannot be used to search for items banned under the school rules.
